

Noah Makes a Sacrifice to God

WHEN Noah left the ark,
he almost immediately built an altar.

He wanted to thank God for saving him,
his family, and all the different animals.

Noah chose certain animals and sacrificed them to God upon the altar.

God was pleased with Noah's sacrifice
and made him a new, special promise called a covenant.

God said that He would never again kill all the living things in a flood.

God gave Noah and us a reminder of this covenant:
the rainbow.

